Dish solar tracking system

Overview

What is a parabolic dish solar concentrator?

Parabolic dish solar concentrators (PDSC) are a CSP system composed of a reflective surface shaped as a paraboloid of revolution (i.e., a parabolic dish), a support structure, a receiver and a sun-tracking system. The entire sun irradiation that impacts the parabolic dish is reflected towards its focus, where the receiver is placed.

How does a parabolic dish work?

The entire sun irradiation that impacts the parabolic dish is reflected towards its focus, where the receiver is placed. This energy concentration allows the PDSCs to achieve temperatures as high as 1500 °C , .

What is a sun-tracking system?

The SD card values are set so that at night (negative altitude sun position) the objective altitude angle is set as 90°, i.e., safe position. A sun-tracking system prototype has been built to evaluate the position sensor accuracy and the overall performance of the control algorithm. It can be seen on Fig. 10.
