Helsinki's largest solar container battery production plant

Overview

The facility, now operational as of June 2025, is the world's largest sand-based, high-temperature thermal storage system, delivering 1 MW of thermal power and 100 MWh of storage capacity. What is the world's largest sand battery?

Lottie Limb writes on the Euronews website about the world's largest sand battery. The 15 metres wide battery can store a month's heat demand in summer. 'A very Finnish thing': Big sand battery starts storing wind and solar energy in crushed soapstone The world's largest sand battery has started working in the southern Finnish.

Where is Vatajankoski battery installed?

The battery, which stores heat within a tank of sand, is installed at energy company Vatajankoski's power plant in the town of Kankaanpää, where it is plugged into the local district heating network, servicing around 10,000 people.

Does Finland need a solar energy system?

Finland gets most of its gas from Russia, so the country has had to rapidly ramp up its switch to renewable forms of energy. While the country can install new solar panels and wind turbines, these energy sources also present huge challenges, including how to keep the lights on during the long, dark winters, when there is no sun.

How big is a sand battery in Pornainen?

At 13 metres high and 15 metres wide, the sand battery in Pornainen is around 10 times larger than the one at Vatajankoski power plant in Kankaanpää. Polar Night Energy also previously connected a pilot plant to the district heating network of Tampere city. So how do sand batteries work exactly?
