Solar panel generators have a 25-year warranty

Overview

Do solar panels have a warranty?

A solar panel has two warranties: a performance and an equipment guarantee. A solar panel's performance warranty will typically guarantee 90% production for the next 10 years and 80% at 25 years, meaning whatever your solar panels are generating today in standard conditions they can produce at least 80 % of it at the end of 25 years.

What are the different types of solar panels warranties?

These warranties come in two main types: Product Warranties, which cover physical defects or failures in the panels, and Performance Warranties, which guarantee your panels will maintain a certain level of energy output over time. Why does this matter?

What is a solar energy power output warranty?

Solar energy power output warranties help guarantee that your panels won't rapidly lose efficiency, which would lead to lower and lower energy savings over time. The typical solar array pays for itself in around 11 years and provides energy savings of more than $31,513 over the following 14 years of expected panel life.

How long should a solar warranty last?

A solid product warranty should last at least 10-25 years, offer full coverage for defects, and ideally include labor costs. Before signing on the dotted line, read the fine print to make sure you're getting comprehensive protection. When it comes to solar warranties, who you turn to for help can depend on the issue.
